The Grand OPENING

The Dedication Ceremony

Yale High School

247 School Drive

August 27, 1995

2:00 p.m.

After two years of construction and anticipation the moment had finally arrived. The new Yale High School was ready for the grand unveiling. There were approximately one thousand five hundred people present to tour the new facility. "This is a special moment in time for the people of this school district," said Coleeta Vesper. "We have always had strong educational opportunities in Yale and now we have an excellent facility for our children. We have good students who deserve the best and the people of this community have given it to them."

There are twenty-three classrooms plus eleven separate laboratory facilities for science, computers, life management, industrial arts/technology, and art. The new school also has music facilities, a large media center complete with fiber optic hookups, a large cafetorium which seats 550 and can be used for a cafeteria or an auditorium for music and theatrical productions, and a gymnasium that seats up to 1,818.

"The dream has finally become a reality," Said Superintendent Ralph Darin during his remarks at the Dediction Ceremony. "I dreamed about this moment for a long time. It is a special moment of joy for everyone involved in the project; the school board, the administration, the staff, the students, the local media, and the people of this community."

"I'd really like to thank the people of this community for coming to the ceremonies and giving us their support," also remarked Darin. "It shows that the people of the school district are really special people that care about their schools and their children."

Shawn Pachmayer, President of the student Council, represented the students at the ceremony. He expressed the thanks that the students in our community feel for giving us such a wonderful facility in which to receive our education. "I'd like to thank the tax payers of our community for making it all possible by working together," said Pachmayer.

Let's not leave out the fact that for the first time in over twenty years we have not had to have portable classrooms or split sessions, and no more suicide hall.

STUDENT LIFE

Wake up! you thought as you rose out of bed on that Tuesday morning. It was the first day of school. You finally eat your breakfast, get dressed, and are walking out to your car when it finally hits you--you are going to a brand new high school. You get there at 8:05 and hurry to talk to all your friends and find your first hour class, because it's not just the Freshmen that are lost this year. The new building looks huge and you don't know how you are going to get to your classes in just five minutes. You finally figure out where all your classes are, you survived lunch and your first day of the school year. Over the course of the year, the routine becomes easier to handle but the atmosphere of the school seems a little different. There is an excitement about the new school that seems to be contagious.

The 1995 Junior/Senior class prom was definately "A Touch of Class." The pre-prom events consisted of a dinner at, for the most part, an elegant restaurant. After dinner, the students started arriving at the prom site in rented limosines or their own snazzy rides. Many students and their dates thought that the $30 for a couple's ticket was expensive, but when they arrived at St. Clair Community College, they thought otherwise. The teal, black, and silver balloons, in which the college was covered, decorated every room and doorway. This gave prom goers a romantic atmosphere. Couples left and right were swept onto the dance floor, creating a feeling of magic that only a special occasion like prom night can

Dining on the delicious food are seniors Steve Barr, Derik Davenport, and Lisa Butler.

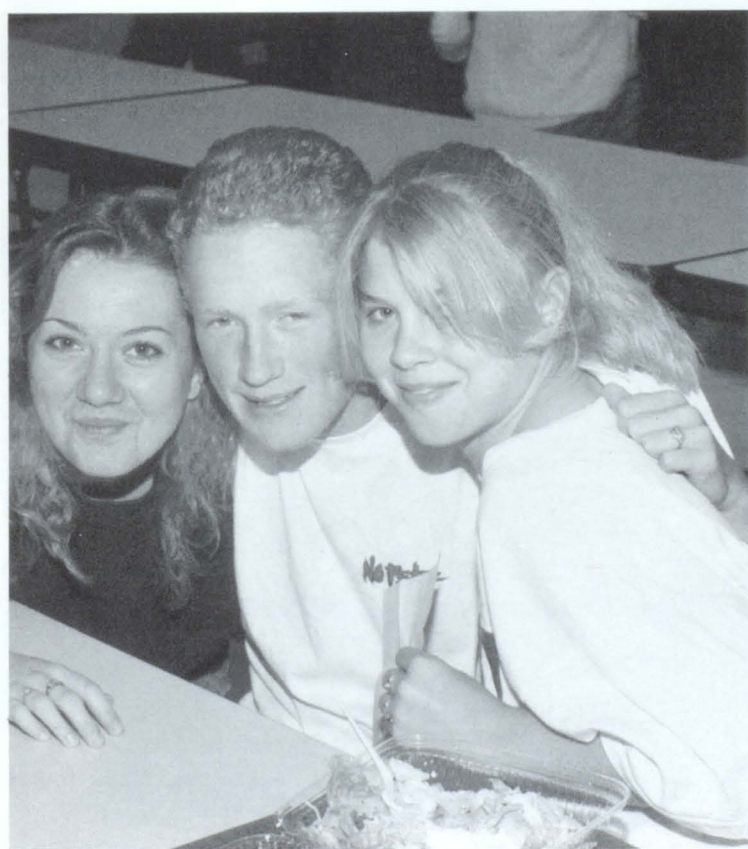

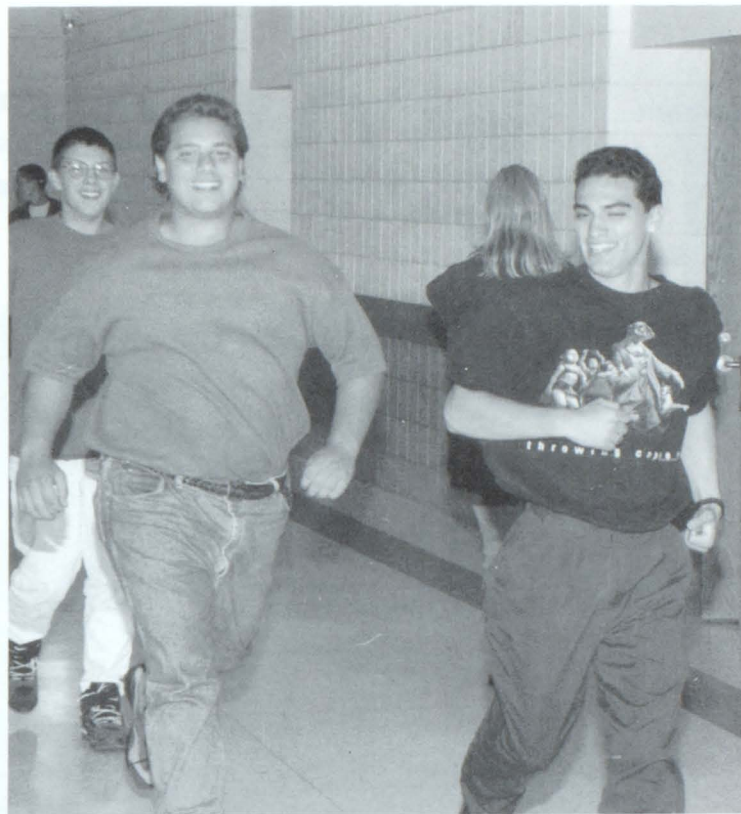

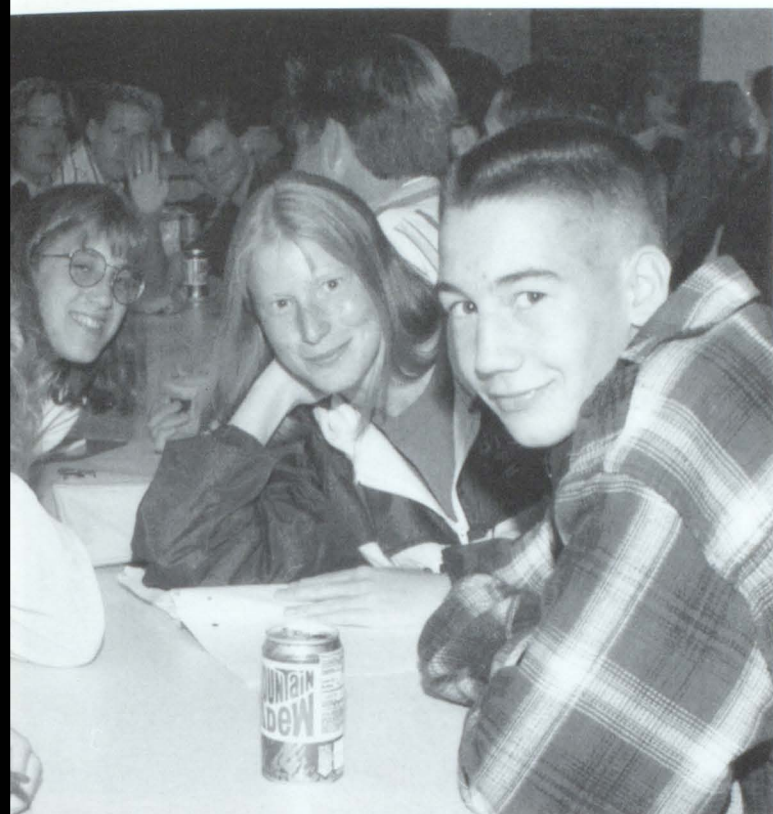

Lunchtime seems to be the most popular time of the day for most students. It is a chance for everyone to get together with friends that they do not get a chance to see in class, and discuss their weekend plans. Not only do they discuss their weekend plans, but what happened the weekend before, the latest gossip, movies, songs, and what everyone is wearing.

There has been a change of scenery this year. The new cafeteria is much larger than last year's. Our new cafeteria is fully equipped with new tables and a more organized lunch line, which makes it easier to find what you want. Our new cafeteria is just another terrific aspect of our new high school.

Right: Scoping out the lunch scene are Principal Frank Johnson and Assistant Principal Mark Decker.

H ouse of Style

"Variety" is the key word in fashion at Yale High this year. From the freshmen class to the senior class, everyone is sporting the a look of "anything goes". The always favorite jeans and a T-shirt or a sweatshirt are the regulars on everyone's daily calendars. The ever popular namebrands such as Guess, Z. Cavaricci, Levis, No fear, Mossimo, Calvin Klein, and Arizonia Jean Co., are number one on every teen's hit list. Making a comeback this year are the pleated skirts and long dresses. Coordinating accessories such as scrunchies, tights, and thick heeled shoes top off our fashion favorites. Taking a look at the new side of things this year are the mini backpacks. These hot sellers are great for your everyday necessities. Also the art of body piercing is making a new scene. Teens are not just piercing their ears anymore, but more exotic places such as the nose, eyebrows, lips, naval and tongue. This has become a major controversy in some smaller cities or towns. What it all comes down to is freedom of expression through fashion and excessories. Gone is the time when all teens try to look like one another.

A Different Approach

What is TEC? TEC is an exciting, realistic approach to education. Juniors and Seniors attending TEC have the opportunity to apply what they learn to actual job situations. There are six programs of study representing more than 200 occupations offered at TEC. One program of study is construction. Students who take this course learn the skills of carpenters, electricians, plumbers, and masons. Manufacturing Technology is another program offered at TEC. Students in this program learn the basics of manufacturing as well as specific skills. Business/Marketing gives a student skills in secretarial, accounting, and data processing fields. The Culinary Art Service program gives skills in a variety of food preparation techniques, customer service and kitchen management practices. Another program is Health Services which provides many educational opportunities for students interested in caring for the health needs of others. The last program that TEC offers is Transportation. This program offers skills in Auto Body Repair, Automotive Technology and Marine Technology.

Students enrolled at TEC spend two and a half hours in class each day. Instructors work with each student to develop a personal training plan. This individualized educational program is what makes learning at TEC fun.

A Cartoon Comedy!

Homecoming '95 proved to be very different than past years. For the first time in about eleven years, the game and the parade were switched back to Friday night. However, the dance was still held on the traditional Saturday evening.

During sixth hour on Friday afternoon, the school was dismissed to Andrea field for the traditional pep assembly. Many activities were planned for the event. Some included a dance by the cheerleaders, the traditional class support cheers, and a tug of war which the Sophomores won.

This year's float theme was Cartoons. Although all of the classes worked very hard to create some wonderful floats, the Juniors won for the third year in a row with their Elmer Fudd design.

The parade was also held on Friday this year. The band, floats, cheerleaders, clubs, and community joined together to organize a very entertaining event for the people of Yale that helped to raise the excitement of the game.

The game was a close one. The Bulldogs suffered a hard two point loss to the Almont Raiders that was anyone's game until the final second.

The spirit of homecoming stayed strong. There was a large turnout of over 300 students for the dance the following evening. The dance was held in the new high school multi - purpose room. The students had a good time dining out for the evening, dancing, and seeing good friends.

All students agreed that even though tradition was changed, Homecoming '95 was still one of the best.

Above: Getting into the swing of things are Nicole Marshall, Jennifer Spiller, Becky Maplethorpe, and Nicole Lambert. This year's dance was a big success for all.

Right: Derik Davenport and Natalie Taube proudly wear their crowns as the 1995 Homecoming king and queen. This was an exciting addition to the half time show.

Below: Getting pulled in by the Sophomores are the Seniors. The tug-o-war was a great way to build class spirit.

Below: The Bulldogs come prepared for the Homecoming game. The game was close until the very end.

Students At Work

With the completion of the new Yale High School, many fresh and exciting new opportunities have accompanied its arrival. Many classrooms have had white dry erase boards installed for easier viewing. There is a separate art room for clean and messy art including a dark room for photography. A new computer lab, larger science labs and televisions give students more educational advantages in this building. Numerous classrooms have been equipped with new student desks. The students also have a new cafetorium to use for Band or Choir concerts and plays. Not only do the additions to the new building help in the learning process, but they also help make learning more fun.

Time for People

Another year! Another day! But it's not just another day, it's the first day of school. It's 7:00 in the morning, you knew it was too early to be up. So you race your brother to the bathroom, to take a shower. Forty minutes later you're on your way to school, ten minutes early, so you can find your class. This isn't the same old school. It's the new school.

For the first few weeks the difference between classes was distinctive, except for the fact that everyone was lost, not just the freshmen. The freshman had expressions of both fear and excitement on their faces. The sophomores finally started to feel as though they completely fit in. Juniors took the upper class advantage and are beginning to look forward to their senior year. As for the seniors, they have the comfortable "knowing they fit in" look. Yet they are very nervous with graduation right around the corner.

After everyone gets situated in the new school, they begin to get in the same day / same thing routine. From the three morning bells to the dismissal bell, everyone has the same thing in common. To get to whatever they have to do after school.

President: Lisa Butler

Hello, my name is Michael Ryan. This is the last entry for the Class of 1996 here at Yale. I am sure we have all enjoyed our stay here. I am also sure that we are proud to be the first class to graduate from the new school. With the addition of a new high school, we might wish to stay here longer. No, I think I speak for all of us when I say it is time to turn the page and move on to bigger things. For some this means college, for others, a full-time job. But for all it means a new beginning. We will all miss the stability of school, and we'll never forget the memories, but it's our time to take what we have learned and apply it to "The Real World". I am positive that every teacher and administrator gave their all to help us. We thank, and will miss them. In closing, I would like to wish my fellow classmates the best in all future endeavors, and to the underclassmen, an enjoyable stay at Yale.

Class Address

Class of 1997

This year has been a great year for our class. Members of our class have been active in all facets of student life. Juniors lead the way in sports teams, academic teams, student government, and the arts.

It's an exciting thing to see classmates step up and show leadership. The ability to lead is an ability that will serve one for a lifetime. And the people in our class are leaders!

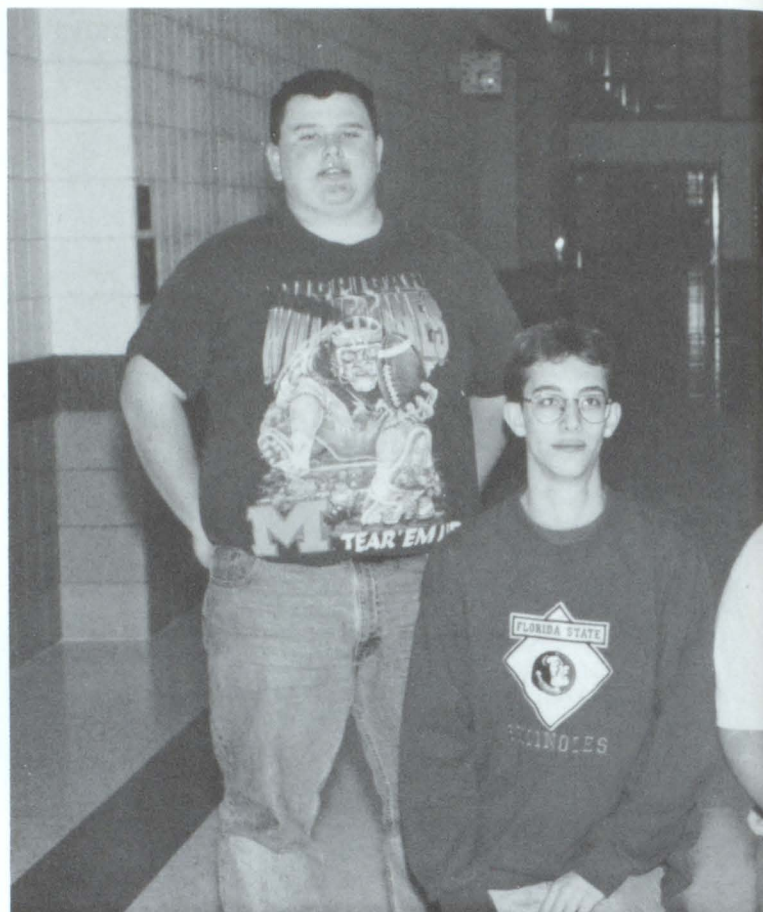

We've given ourselves much to be proud of. We have won the Homecoming float competition for the third year in a row. We also have been actively involved in many successful teams and groups.

Those things that we haven't brought about on our own we have been fortunate enough to have provided for us. The best example is the beautiful new high school our community has given us. I appreciate and respect the sacrifice so many made for us.

I would like to thank all of you for making my junior year a memorable one.

Looking Ahead

The question was asked to the following Juniors, "Where would you like to be in ten years?"

Lori Rusch answered, "I would like to own my own beach in California. I want to be married and have two children, also be a successful Child Psychologist."

Joe Michelz answered, "I would like to have a career in Sports Medicine earning a lot of money to support my family. Most importantly I want to be happy."

Tim Schneider answered, "My plans are to marry Jennifer McCarthy and have eight children. Also I would like to live in Canada making my living as an Engineer."

IDEAL DATES

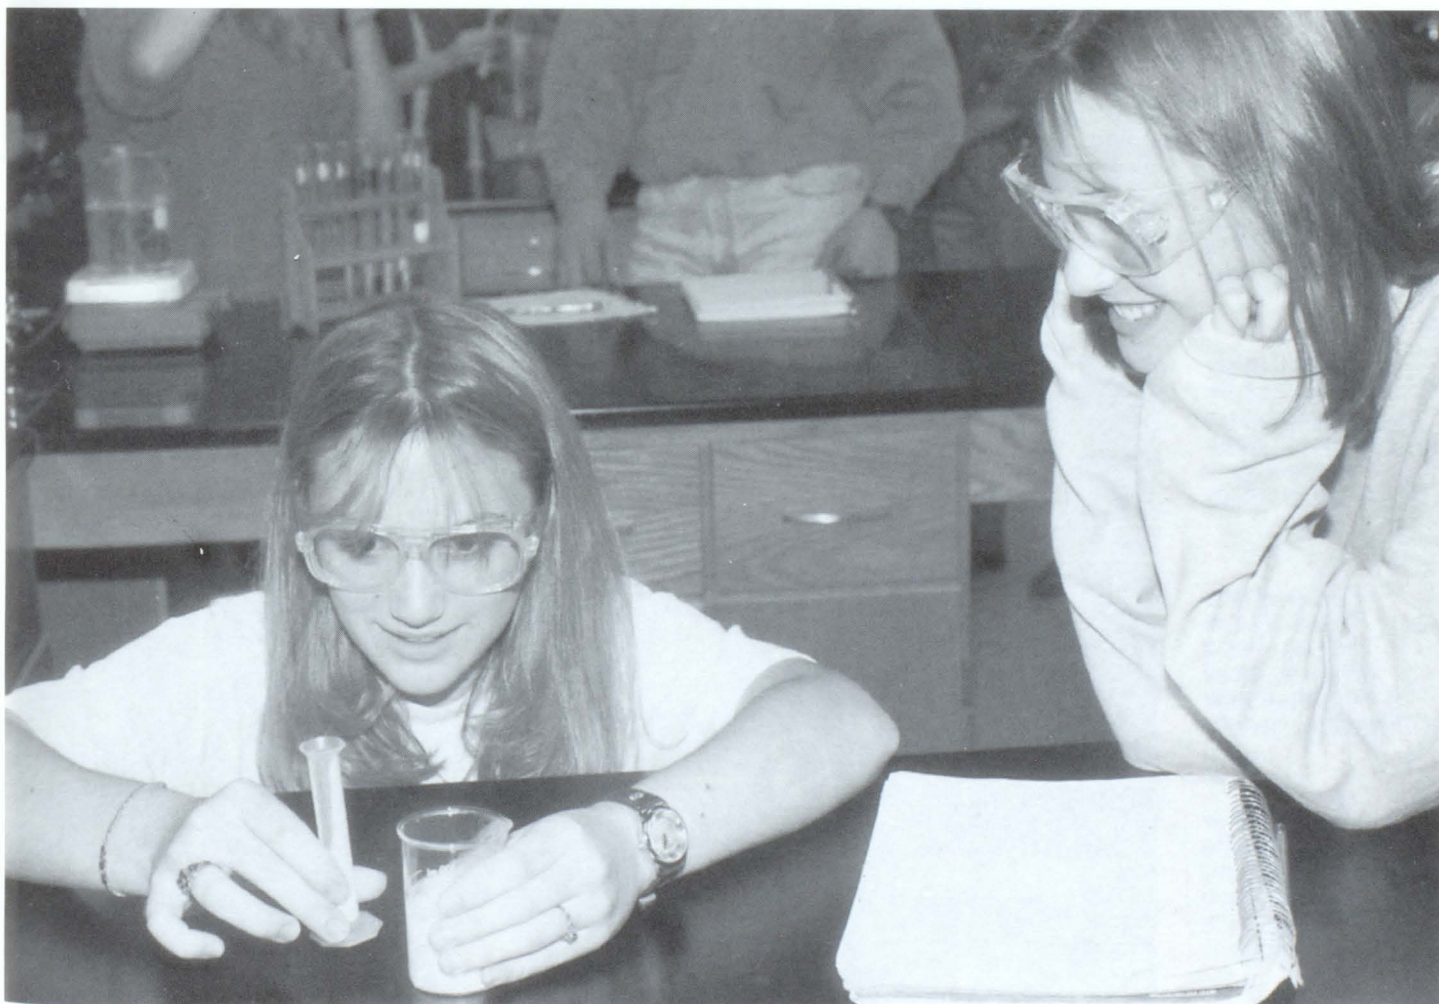

The following Juniors were asked to describe their ideal date.

Gina Bass responded by saying, "My ideal date would be when the Preferred Stock model shows up at my house in a 1996 Lamborghini. He then takes me for a night on the town. After that, he takes me for an all night journey on a 160 foot yacht.

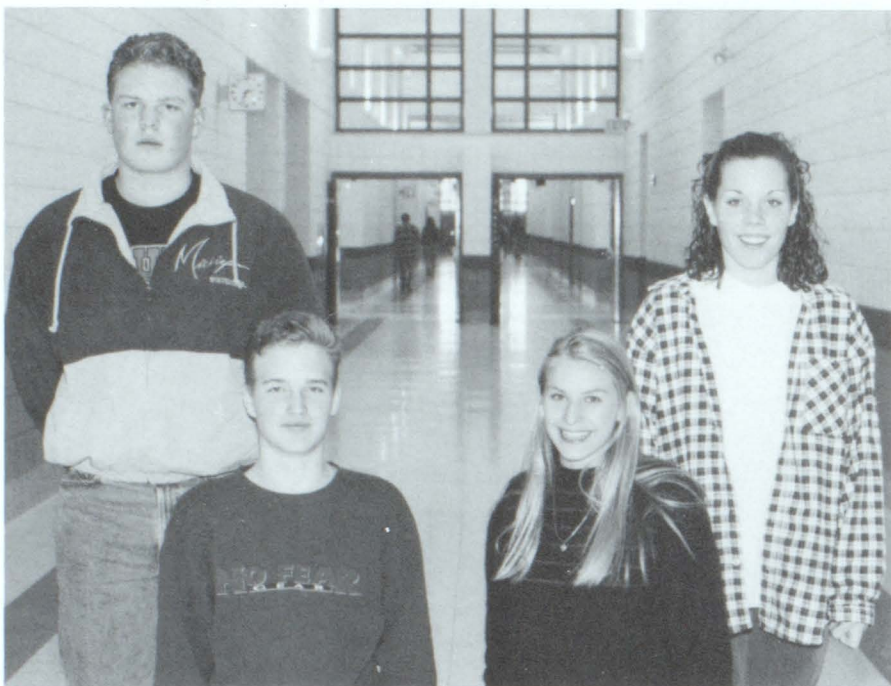

Leann Pachmayer said, "My date would show up at my house with a single yellow rose. We would then head off to the beach and watch the sun set. Then we would go to a cliff to look over the city lights.

Mike Ostrander's response was as follows, "My ideal date would be with a tall blonde hair, blue eyed beauty. I would arrive at her house to pick her up in my one of a kind 1967 unpainted Dodge Polara. We'd make good time to Alabama because my car goes eight trillion miles per hour. I treat her to a ten piece Chitlen dinner (there is nothing better to relax to after that drive). Back in Michigan we would end the date gradually duelling it out in a lovely game of Lazer Storm.

Class Address

==== Class of 1998 =====

Hi! My name is Matt Machowski. I'm the Sophomore class President. My co-executives are Vice President Sarah Moore, Secretary Victoria Shifflett, and Treasurer Mike Pierce. Our class advisor is Mr. Robinson. Well, we are finally in the new high school. Everything looks great! I hope that all of the kids that go through Yale will treat this school just as nice as we have. I wish the class of 1996 the best of luck in the future. I would also like to wish all the best of luck to the class of 1998 for the next few years of high school.

Quote Box

Sophomore students were selected to answer a few questions. Their answers are as follows:

What's the first thing you do when you get home?

"Watch Montel Williams", says Mari Pellerito.

"Watch T.V. and talk on the phone", says Nichole Huyghe.

Why do you think you were picked to answer questions in our survey?

"Because I survived a plane crash and subsequently became a superhero"...Adam Crumpton.

"Because I'm special in my own way!"... Matt Ostrowski.

Class Address

Hi! My name is Shelly Belesky and I am this year's Freshman class President. My fellow officers are Stacey Fletcher V.P., Erin Dunn Treasurer, and Dena Picuch Secretary.

I'd like to start off by thanking Mr. Little, our adviser, for all of his help and support especially with the construction of our float and the magazine sale. I would say that our class has started our high school career off quite successfully. We managed to get second place for our Homecoming float, "The Flintstones". Other successes include our J.V. Girls Basketball team going undefeated for the first time and winning the STA. So in closing I would like to wish the class of 1996 the best of luck and also good luck to the class of 1999 in continuing their high school careers in the new facilities.

Who's Who in the Class of 1999

Freshman year is by far one of the most memorable experiences in a person's life. A new school and new faces are a few of the adjustments. You could say that it's a whole new world filled with pressures, expectations and an entirely new atmosphere. Freshmen have to adjust and adapt to survive the trials and tribulations of high school life. For many Freshmen, this is the first year to participate in the Homecoming parade, design and sculpt a float, and get all dressed up for the Homecoming dance. Selling magazines to raise money for many of the class activities available to them, such as their Senior prom and float materials, are very important for their future gatherings. Freshman year is a year of many accomplishments and the beginning of memories.

Back to Basics

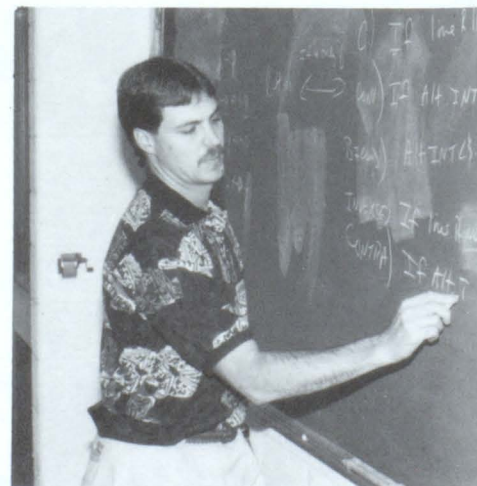

Yale High School's academic program is now one of the area's best. The new high school's facilities have provided the students not only with a new learning atmosphere, but with the newest technology that will enable them to increase their knowledge in various areas. A larger media center offers more resources and computer technology for the students. Direct hook-ups to the Intermediate School District and the Internet in the future will soon put the school at the head of communications.

The academic programs, as well as the faculty, here at Yale play a very important role in the school and in the student's daily lives. Two of the many disciplines covered are college preparatory, where students prepare to continue their education beyond high school, and technological studies, where students get hands-on experience in the field of their choice. There are also many classes for healthy lifestyles and family development. The wide range of classes provide the students with many diverse choices of learning possibilities.

TACKLING

Luckily, Yale High School has one of the best administrative teams around. From the ever-so-busy bosses who make sure our days run smoothly and safely to our happy-go-lucky secretaries who are constantly smiling, someone is always there to help our students out. Even our counselors are on call for us, whether we need to discuss personal problems or we are looking for scholarship or college information. They are the crew that guides our days and many times are not given the praise they deserve. Unfortunately, they move on in time. Many students were sad at the absence of long time secretary Rose Curtis who retired at the end of last year. We were also sad to see attendance secretary Mag Sabada retire at the end of the first semester this year. We will always be thankful for all of their services to us.

Lunch! It's the best time of the day according to most students. Every day someone has to look at that menu on the classroom wall. However, many of us don't realize how much time and effort goes into preparing for and serving it. Our lunchtime menu takes a lot of planning. The staff has to arrive early in the morning to get cookin'. Our food administrator, Louanne Warner, has to make sure the selection of food is healthy for us. We should remember and thank the food staff for their hard work.

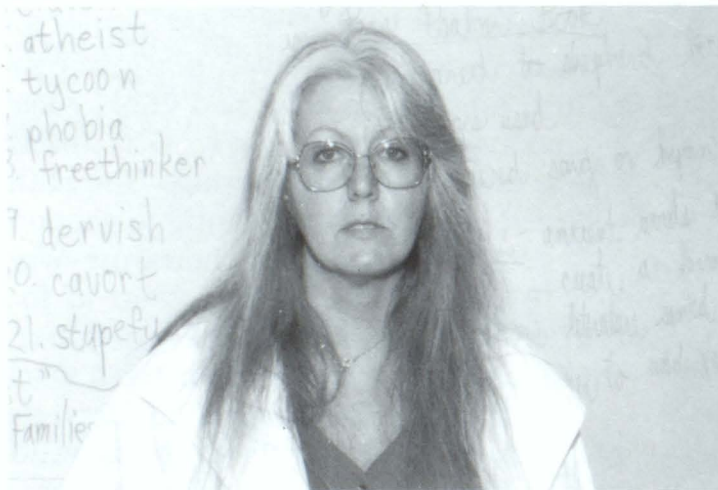

The Special Education department plays an important role in many students school day. These teachers give more time and caring to help out. The work they do for the school makes them much more than support. They are an important part of our school.

UP THE SCALE

English is a requirement for all freshmen, sophomores, and juniors. Also, many of the seniors take this class, because it is highly encouraged by many colleges for incoming freshmen.

Students learn about many of the different time periods in literary history. From Mrs. Taylor's play of Romeo and Juliet to writing crazy stories in Mr. Flynn's class, students get a chance to express their creative sides.

They also spend a lot of time going over the do's and don'ts of grammar and the many vocabulary worksheets. All in all, English is a very helpful tool when we need to chit chat with our friends.

MIND OVER MATTER

"Psychology is the study of the mind. I think some things are better left unsaid", quotes senior James Ellis. The Social Sciences department of Y. H. S. plays an important part in the daily education of the student body. These classes are required for all four years of high school. They include World History, Geography, American History, Government, Economics, Psychology, Sociology, Current World Affairs and Parenthood. "Beside everyday activities and varying exercises, the classes are really educational," states exchange student Peter Rodionov.

Band and Choir. These are two of the hardest working classes for a lot of high school students. Their practice schedule can range anywhere from their allotted class time, to before and after school. Not only do they have to learn the basics of music and performance, but they have to perform many concerts a year, support different sporting events and compete at district and state festivals. Last March, the Band's hard work paid off. They received the highest possible scores at the annual band festival. Also this year, Matt Schumacher got second chair for trumpet in the Eastshore Concert Band. David Spiller also on trumpet got fourth chair as a Freshman. Junior Aaron Spiller took first chair for the clarinet. Both teachers are very proud of their students' hard work and accomplishments. The success of these programs is evident in the growing number of students who are joining and experiencing the joy of music.

Life Skills is the most unique class at Yale High School. Mrs. Linda Willer, Mrs. Laura Robinson, and Ms. Carol Carpenter teach all of these areas in home economics: Personal family living, Parenthood, Clothing 1&2, Nutrition education, Food Heritage, Health, Consumer education, Accounting, and Typing. These classes help prepare students for life and family.

A new addition to the Parenthood classes were the mechanical dolls. Students learned what it is actually like to have a baby. These dolls not only weigh the approximate ammount of a new born baby , but they all of the sudden cry for no apparent reason, and they only stop after the caretaker either held them correctly or figured out what the problem was and fixed it.

ON THE GO

Yale's Physical Education is one of the areas finest. This year the staff includes Michael Falter, Cathy Arnold, and Pat Gallimore.

Even though it isn't one of the most intellectually challenging classes it is the most challenging. Students learn such things as football, baseball, basketball, and tennis. "It's fun. It keeps us in shape, and gives us a break from the everyday routine, from the monontany of school life," exclaims student Paul Grasyk.

Physical Education has three levels: Gym 1,2,&3. Gym 1 is a required coarse that must be taken by all freshman. No longer is it separated by gender. Gym 1 is a coed class. Gym 2 is basically an extention of gym 1, but is still challenging none the less. Gym 3 is a much more strenuous class. It focuses on weight lifting, strength training, and endurance. So whoever said Gym is a no brainer must have never taken it.

It All Adds Up

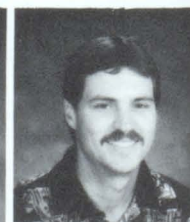

New technology and space is an advantage for the math and science departments this year. Some advantages to the science department are the new science labs. These new labs let more students get a chance to work with microscopes, burners, and create great experiments. Each teacher in the science department designed their own labs and classrooms. In addition to the new science labs, is the new computer lab. This gives more students an opportunity to gain experience in computer related situations.

Tools of the Trade

This year the art and shop departments have the advantage of working with all new facilities. Students in drafting and technology have updated systems and an advaced computer room to work with. The students in shop will be working in a newly developed working area. Mr. Marcetti now has a classroom separate from his shop. Mr. Dewey's photography class can develop their pictures in their brand new dark room. Two classrooms give these students many more opportunities to expand their work. This department has the best of the best when it comes to equipment.

GETTING INVOLVED

The clubs and organizations help get students get involved with other students, school activities, and the local community. Many field trips, assemblies, and in-school activities are planed by these groups.

Every year the SADD Orginazation sponsors five live assemblies. They also have many guest speakers who inform us on the consequences of drinking and driving.

The future homemakers of America(FHA) give to the community many times during the year. They hold their annual fund drive. This helps the needy people of the community at Christmas time, and reward the class that collects the most money with a pizza party.

The most popular club in the school is the Spanish Club. They have over one hundred members. They hold many activities throughout the year. Many of the students favorite activities is their annual trip to Chi-Chi's, which they fund raise all year for.

Getting involved in clubs and organizations can be a very rewarding experience. They enable students to have fun and get away from their daily pressures.

Top: Don't drink and drive. The mock crash last spring demonstrates the effects of drinking and driving.

EXPANDING OUR HORIZONS

Student Council is the student government of the Yale High School. They do many things for the students and the community. Among the many activities that they organize, Homecoming is one of the students' favorite activities. They also put on the canned food drive for needy families. At the end of the week the class with the most nonperishable food items receives a continental breakfast for the entire class. This year the Student Council well surpassed their goal of cans. Twice a year they sponsor the blood drive for the entire community to participate in. The Student Council is known all over the school as the voice of the Yale High School Students.

LEAN ON US

The future homemakers of America raise money to help the underprivileged families. They raise the money by carnation sales, candy sales, and students donating money. With the money they raise they do a variety of different activities. Each year they provide a special Thanksgiving dinner for a needy family in our area. From their canister fund raiser, during the Christmas season, they successfully collected four hundred dollars to purchase gifts for needy children in the area. Not only do they do kind things for the needy, they also bake a cake for the teachers birthday each month. Each year FHA sets new goals to reach. They succeed in many ways.

MAKING A STATEMENT

S.A.D.D. Students against drunk driving. There are many drunk driving accidents each year, so we have a group of people trying to take affirmative action. "It makes me very sad when people get drunk and then drive," explains James Thiemke. SADD reminds us of the danger of driving drunk. Every other year they stage a mock accident the week before Prom to show the students what can happen if they choose to drive drunk. Also they have students paint their faces white to represent the teenagers that die every day from drunk driving accidents.

The Drama Club is beginning to see some very exciting changes. The new school provided a larger and more advanced facility for the program. The stage allows for bigger productions in the future. This is the first time a sophisticated lighting system was used. The students will be able to learn and utilize the computerized system as well as put on a larger variety of shows. This year the Drama Club performed the comedy/mystery, "The Butler Did It". The show featured a diverse cast and did very well. The success of the plays has brought new interest from the students and the club has grown each year. Future plans include adding a second show in the year and traveling to see professional shows.

MINDS AT WORK

Quiz Bowl is like Jeopardy, with each team trying to outsmart the other. Yale's quiz bowl team has been a dominant force in the Blue Water Quiz Bowl League, placing second the last two years.

The league is made up of Varsity and Junior varsity teams from Algonac, Capac, Yale, Marine City, St. Clair, Port Huron High, and Marysville. Each team plays each other twice, and the final league tournament is played. The quiz bowl also competes in the DeGrow quiz bowl tournament, with the winner advancing to the state finals. This year's team is going as one of the favorites, and hopes to come out with a league championship.

"I enjoy being a part of the National Honor Society," comments senior Greg Goodall. "It gives me the chance to participate in activities that I wouldn't normally be able to do otherwise." So what is National Honor Society? It's a group that was started to honor the academic excellence of advanced students. However, in recent years, it has become much more than that. One of it's main objectives is to provide a service for the school and community. A major activity held by this elite club is the sixth grade overnight program. The president of NHS, Thomas LaPerre, helps out by demonstrating the use of rockets, computers, and telescopes for the kids. NHS members tend to be role models for the younger generation.

With well over one hundred members, this year's Spanish club was the biggest yet. Many students enjoy learning about the Spanish culture. "We are really looking forward to going to Chi Chi's at the end of the year" says Spanish club member Tom LaPerre. They have fund raisers to earn money for such things as dances, Christmas parties and Senior parties. The Spanish Club's officers this year are President Toni Morris, Vice President Becky Maplethorpe, Secretary Nicole Schneider, Treasurer Bonnie Anderson and Advisor Ms. Sworthwood.

Focus on Science

The Yale Science Club meets about twice a month to discuss scientific matters and to plan field trips to increase their scientific awareness. At the end of their meetings, they usually have a demonstration of some technological instruments by their adviser Mr. Hunt. This year the club has planned a trip to the Mammoth Caves in Kentucky. They also have an annual pizza party to celebrate the advances they have achieved. This year's president of the Science is Jason Vardon.

Born to Ride

Little is known about the Yale Equestrian team. These girls train long and difficult hours to compete with little or no recognition as a result. This year's team placed 3rd overall. Three riders qualified for District teams. Tara Fellows made the All District "A" team and Gina Bass and Jessica Mears made the "B" team. Teams compete for points based on first through sixth place winners in each class. There are 20 - 25 riders per class. Judges look for quality of rider's performance, obedience of the horse and the discipline of horse and rider working together.

It's All In Your Mind

Who would think that sports would play as an important part in the school scene as they do? Whether one is a participant or a spectator, most students center their schedules around a certain sport for every season. Every sport has dedicated athletes with an incentive to excel, even though some sports receive more recognition and higher attendance by fans than others. Enthusiastic spectators and a great band support the teams, while other athletes are supported by fellow team members. All athletes are dedicated to their particular sport, which makes them strive to reach perfection.

beat their rival the Brown City Green Devils. "It was the highlight of the season," exclaimed Rod LaMay, "It was great to break Brown City's twenty four game winning streak in the STA." It was a great year for the bulldogs, hopefully it will be an even better one next year.

Move

The 1995 junior varsity football team played a hard season this year. A couple of players that were interviewed said the football team started off the season slowly. While the other players said that the team improved a lot as the season progressed. The coaches did a good job with the players this year. Both coach

Gillespie and coach Gallemore had a team with little experience, and turned them around to a very developed team and gave them experience to play on the varsity level next season. The junior varsity team ended the season four wins and five losses overall, and three wins and two in the league.

Football Cheer

Cheerleading combines dedication and hard work to achieve a goal of pumping up the crowd. When school spirits are low, call on the Varsity Cheerleaders to raise the student body to heights they've never seen before. The Varsity squad strives to promote crowd participation and school spirit. As a member of the squad, planning is a key element to a successful cheer. The Varsity squad attended the Universal Cheerleading Association camp at Saginaw Valley to extend and improve their cheering skills. The team participated in learning many new cheers and improved their previous ones. The squad took first place in competition cheers while at UCA. The Varsity cheerleading squad earned six gold superior ribbons and two blue superior ribbons for performing some of the cheers, dances, chants and mounts they've learned.

Junior Varsity

Cheerleading is no longer just a side line sport, it has been taken to a higher level. In any aspect, sports are very competitive and cheerleading also falls into this category. The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders also attended the Universal Cheerleading Association camp at Saginaw Valley. The JV squad also learned many new cheers, not to mention two dances, which were presented at the Homecoming pep assembly (along with the Varsity squad) and a number of new mounts. While at UCA, the JV team took second place in competition cheers. They also successfully received spirit sticks every day that they attended the camp. A spirit stick is a stick awarded for being spirited and cooperative. The Junior Varsity squad also earned six gold superior ribbons and two blue superior ribbons for adding their own special touches to the cheers they learned.

Junior Varsity

The junior varsity girls basketball team finished an undefeated season this year at twenty and 0. The team consisted of thirteen girls, seven freshmen and six sophomores. This years captains were Amanda Schaaf and Michelle Huber.

The hard work the girls put into practice paid off as they beat eleven teams by more than twenty points, and they only faced 2 competitors where the games were decided by less then five points.

The top scorers were sophomores Amanda Schaaf, Amanda Collins, and Michelle Huber, along with the freshmen Erin Dunn and Stacey Fletcher. These two freshmen were also the top rebounders. The girls had an excellent season this year.

JUST SLAM IT

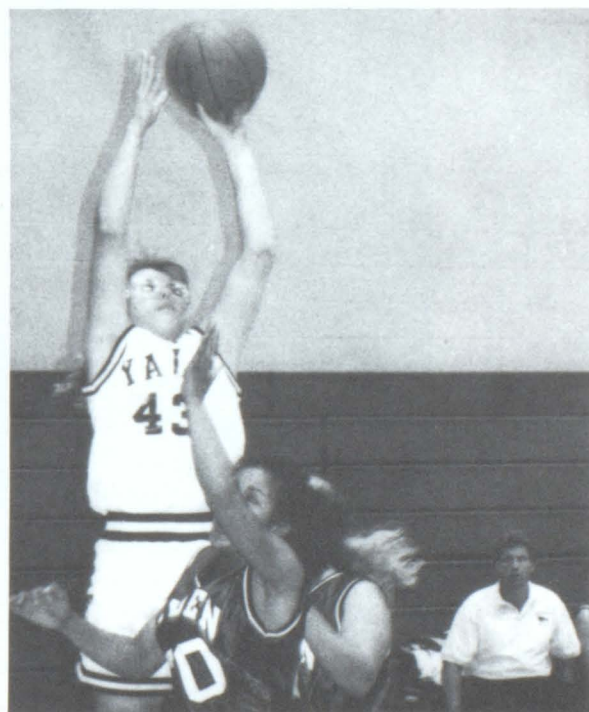

Varsity

The sport of basketball requires hard work and determination. This season the girls varsity basketball team earned their first STA title. Their overall record was 16-4, and their league record was 13-1. The team displayed a great team effort this season, and most important they had a lot of fun working together.

This year was a very awkward year for the Yale Cross Country team. Off the course, they had a great many get togethers and celebrations. On the course, it was nothing but hardships and difficulties. Between sickness and losing their top runner just before Regionals, the Varsity lineup was constantly changing.

This year's roster was led by two new coaches who had little experience with the sport but put forth a hearty effort to keep the kids training and in shape. These coaches were Wayne Gottleber and Art Stanyer. There were also eight seniors on the team this year who will be missed in the coming season. The young team is determined to build another strong competitive team that Yale has always been proud of in the past.

NEW and IMPROVED

This year's basketball season has greatly improved since last year. With their new coach, Mark Decker, they have surprised Yale spectators with their winning record and attitude.

There is a lot of talent on the team this year. The combination of all of the players and a new coach was very promising this season. With most of their games being extremely suspensful, they managed to bring every one of their fans to their feet. The new and improved varsity squad has proved that determination and a good attitude can defeat all of the odds.

Hard Work

The Junior Varsity basketball team has had a moving season. A season of hard work, determination and spirit was in the minds and hearts of the Bulldogs. They have learned the values of discipline, teamwork, and good sportsmanship. These are qualities that will help them in the next two years on the Varsity team. The Junior Varsity team, along with a lot of hard work, dedicated themselves throughout the season. Along with the players' high spirits, the fans cheered their hearts out for this team. Goals are a very important part of any success a team may have in athletics. Reaching these goals is sometimes not as important as learning how to enjoy the sport.

Determination

The Freshmen basketball season is the time of very hard work. This time on the court helps in improving their skills. Next year they will be able to use these skills on the Junior Varsity team. The team played to the best of their ability to improve. They continue to keep good sportsmanship, determination, and team work in their minds as the keys to success. The Freshmen also learned the pace of the game in order to see what it takes to do the job. They learn that it is not whether you win or lose, it is how you play the game that counts and keeps the spirits high.

Competative Edge

This year there were three cheerleading squads, a Varsity, Junior Varsity, and a Competative squad. What makes the Competition squad different is that they don't cheer on the sidelines during the basketball games. Instead they go to competitions. The competitions consist of three rounds. The first and second rounds have certain requirements. The third round is open to any types of movements, stunts, tumbling, etc. the group wishes to put into their performance. Each round is timed and judged on the routine and general impression. The Competative squad placed fifth this year beating out Capac. They hope to improve their standings in the future years. The Competative and Varsity squads were coached by Melissa Flynn. J.V. coach was Terry Cowper.

After putting in six long hours of school work, tests, quizzes, and all of the other tasks of being a student, a few choice girls at Yale High decide to put in at least two more hours at a gruelling practice. From stretching and laps to drills and conditioning, Yale's volleyball teams works hard to keep their record at a very good level. Junior Kelly Jurn sums up the attitude and the determination of a strong team by adding, "The bottom line is that we all work hard and help each other to reach our goals."

BULLDOGS CAPTURE

Bulldogs "Takedown" Opponents

The Yale Wrestling team came out on top again as they captured their tenth straight STA title. The Bulldogs finished 5-0 in the league dual meet season. A lot of new faces joined the team this year making it a young team with little experience. The experienced wrestlers helped them prepare for what turned out to be an outstanding season. All of the hard work, conditioning, and time paid off.

Senior Steve Barr broke just about every record managable. He is undefeated in dual meets from 1992 to 1996. Steve now holds the record of most career pins with over 127, fastest pin at 3 seconds, most dual meet wins in a season (21), most tournament championships in a season (7), and in a career. He also holds a record for most state medals with 2. The other seniors Mike Ryan, Brian Francek, Rob Wooten, Josh Sopha and Shaun Pachmayer all also had a very impressive final season. Freshman Mike McCormick had an outstanding season for his first year.

Big Swing

The varsity softball team had a good season ending overall with 18 wins and 8 losses. Their record in the league was 9 wins and 5 losses. The team had good competition this year to make for an interesting season. The team had six seniors who will be difficult to replace for the coming season.

The junior varsity softball team had a good year with some really big wins. Their overall record was seven wins and six losses and their league record was six wins and four losses. The JV girls coach is Tracy Kavanagh.

Champs at Bat

Baseball is a game of skill, coordination, quickness, and agility. The varsity baseball team showed all of these skills this season. The bulldogs have taken the STA the past five years to take the title of best team in the league, with a winning season of twelve wins and two loses. The bulldogs dominated this year. It has been eighteen years since the bulldogs have passed districts. They put a stop to the eighteen year curse that had fallen on them. They showed they are the best by bringing home the district trophy by beating Caro, Bad Axe, and Imlay City, and making it to the finals at regionals.

The junior varsity baseball team had a tough season this year. Their record was six wins and three losses in the league and seven wins and eight losses overall. They were in contention for the league championship all season but fell short in the end. "We had a tough year," says Erik Singleton, "It was rough in the beginning but as the year went on we continued to get better. Next year should be a great year for Yale baseball." "Good Luck in years to come guys," says Coach Pat Gallemore.

Get Set, Go!

Individual performance is a key point for a successful track and field athlete. Self discipline and determination are the most important qualities to achieve participation and team work 100% of the time. Setting goals is just part of being a team. Whether a student is an individual distance runner or part of a relay, they all strive for a common ideal. Each strives to be his or her own best for the improvement of the team. In this sport, field events are just as equal and important as the running events. One of the main goals of the track team is to accomplish the goal of being the best in the area. Their hard work and improvements throughout the season didn't go unnoticed, although winning the STA was out of their reach, the goals they achieved were recognized.

On The Green

The varsity golf team had a tough season this year. They finished fourth in the league tournament in front of three teams and behind three teams. During the year the guys won six matches. Barry Kendall made second team all league, while seniors Scott Hicks and Andy Wilder made honorable mention.

There were nine letter winners this season, only three were seniors. Since the team is only losing three seniors, they are looking to improve their standings with an experienced team next year.

"1995-1996" Year

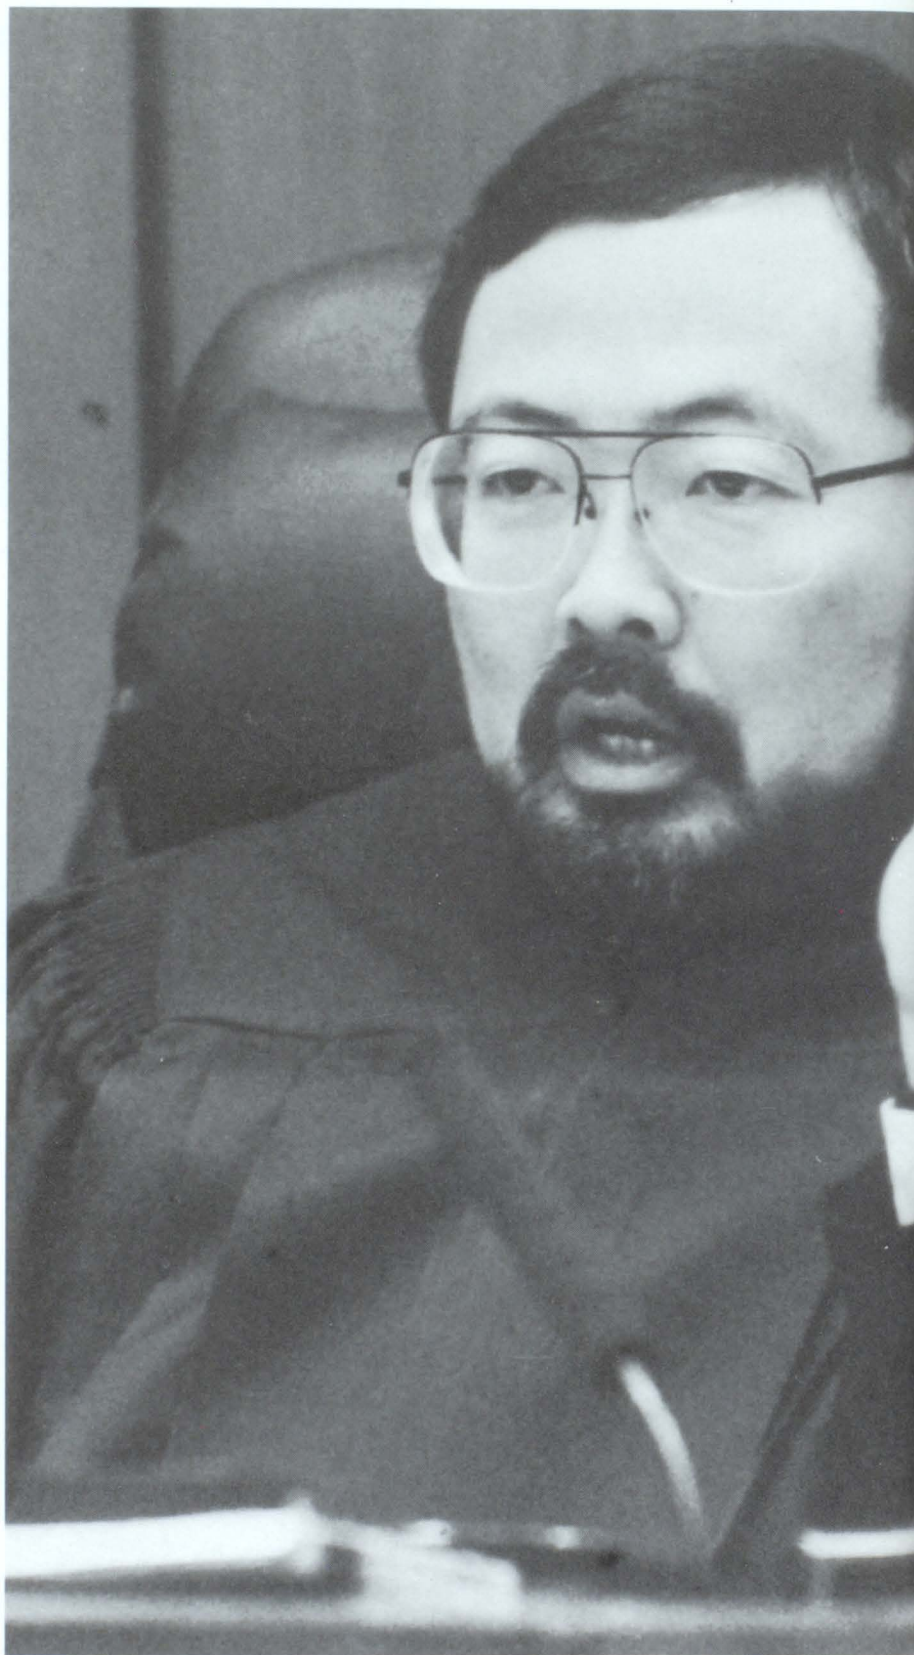

The 1995-1996 year was one for the record books . From Judge Ito of the Simpson trial to the debut of groups such as Blues Traveler, there was never a dull moment.

National news turned explosive with such events as the Oklahoma bombing, the Simpson verdict, and Affirmative Action. With the presidential elections still to come, we will get more then our share of sweet talking.

As for music, pretty much anything goes. Country is begining to fade off of the charts as altrnative moves in. New bands such as Hootie and the Blowfish have become a hit to fans of all ages.

This year we have taken a look back at sports with the death of Mickey Mantle, but a new look ahead as more young stars begin to shine.

We will be able to look back on the 1995-1996 year and remember the past, but look forward to what's to come.

On April 19, 1995, terror exploded in Oklahoma City with the bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building. The explosion killed 169 people and injured more than 500. Timothy McVeigh and Terry Nichols were charged with eleven counts in the bombing.

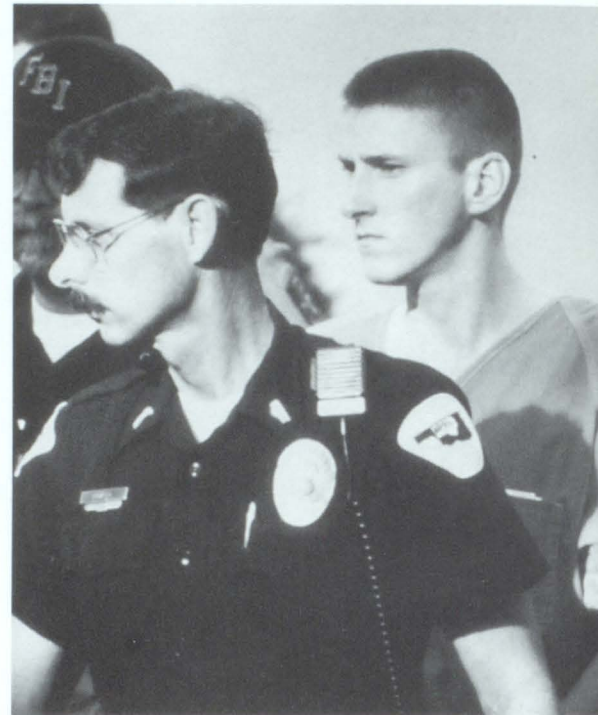

As the 1996 presidential election grows near, the smooth talking begins. President Clinton prepares to run for re-election while new comers step up to run. Senator Bob Dole, a Republican from Kansas, if elected would be older than any newly elected president. There was a big disappointment for Powell Supporters. Colin Powell ruled out running for the president as a Democrat. Early in the presidential campaign he looked very much like a candidate. He along with Ross Perot were thought as a candidate in the making.

Bill Gates made computer headlines when he in-Hootie and the Blowfish have been described as a pleasant band with a mellow sound, a winning and unpretentious attitude, a goofy name and a lot more. Musically, Hootie can move casually but efficiently from harmonizing to country rock, from blues to thick-as-mollasses southern rock.

Green Day hit the charts with "Insomniac" its second major-label release. The San Francisco trio has unleashed whatever pentup energy it managed to stockpile during the last whirlwind of a year.

Triple Grammy Winner Sheryl Crow and her band have toured without a break since her debut in 1993. "All I Wanna Do" was Crow's road to fame.

The Cranberries' last two albums sold more than six million copies. Their latest "No Need to Argue" has been on the charts for several months. The Cranberries may have their limitations, but they haven't yet raised to the surface.

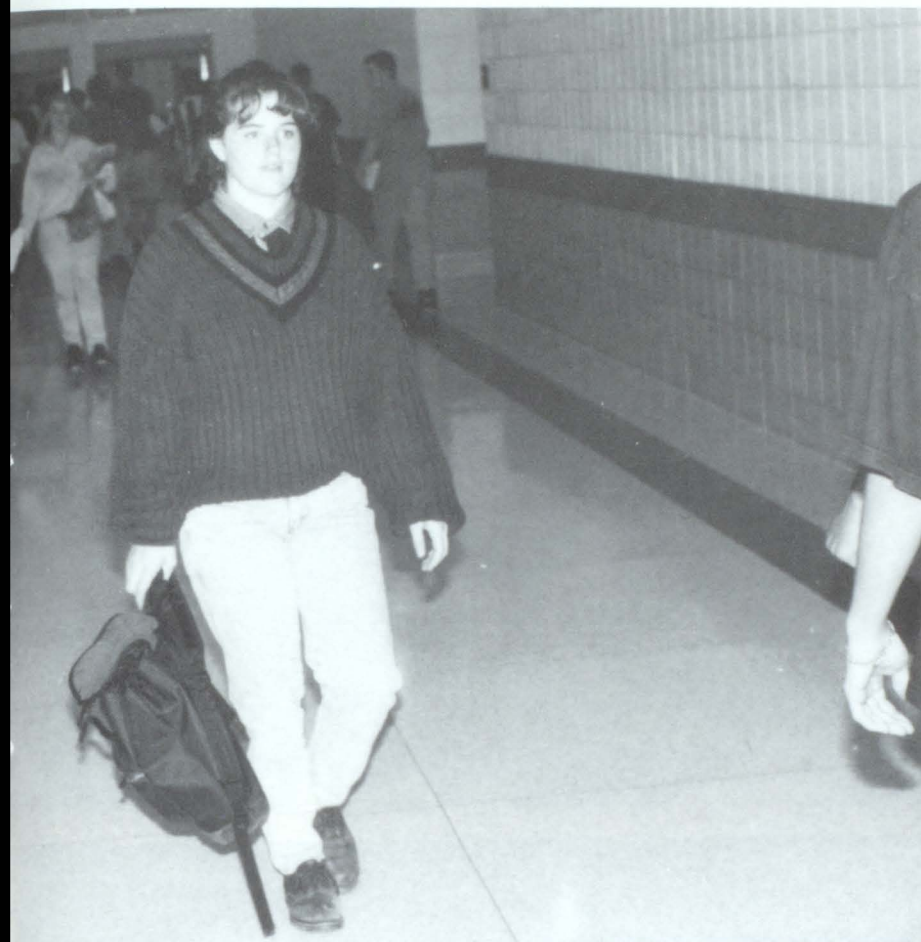

Pearl Jams best selling album "Vitalogy," made one of the biggest debuts of the year. It sold nearly 900,000 copies, which nearly topped the groups own record set in 1993. Eddie Vedder isn't just known as the groups lead singer for Pearl Jam, but for his continuous battle with Ticketmaster. He claims the ticket firm charges excessive service charges.

The weather is not much different here than in my country. We have four seasons, and a lot of snow, but it's not as cold. So now it is very hard for me since my city temperature very seldomly goes below 32 degrees. I have never seen so much ice on large lakes and rivers, and it stays for such a long time.

My school and Yale High School are very different. We have to wear uniforms at my school. We don't change class rooms for every subject. We stay in the same class room. This way I don't have to worry about being late for class. After school we have to help clean the school. Another thing I have noticed is that many kids drive to school, where as in Japan, we can't drive. We must walk or ride the city bus.

American schools have more subjects to choose from and have different age groups in subjects(freshman, sophmores, etc.).

Japanese teenagers cannot work when they are still in school or when they are sixteen.

Hello,

My name is Peter Rodionov. My friends call me Pedro or Pete. I'm a YFU exchange student from Russia. I came to America because I wanted to see what it is like.

This has been a great experience for me. There are a lot of nice people here. To be an exchange student is great. You can learn so many new things.

Since I came here I discovered so much for myself. In Russia we don't have any teams at school. I think it is a great opportunity to spend free time playing in a team from your school. When I first came here I was afraid to talk, because my vocabulary is so diverse.

I want to tell thanks to everybody; my family, friends, YFU voluntiers for making my stay here a little easier and better.

Hi! I'm Hannes, one of your four exchange students here. I'm the one from Germany, like many of you know. When the people from the yearbook asked me to write this I was already at halfway through the year here at Yale. The letters in the last month became less and less as the year went by, and life here became more regular.

The beginning here was made very easy for me by everyone. I had a great time during football season(which in my opinion was too short). I had a lot time to make many

School here was very different for me, too. It was like an all day job. The teachers helped a lot, to make everything as comprehensive and as easy as possible so there weren't any problems.

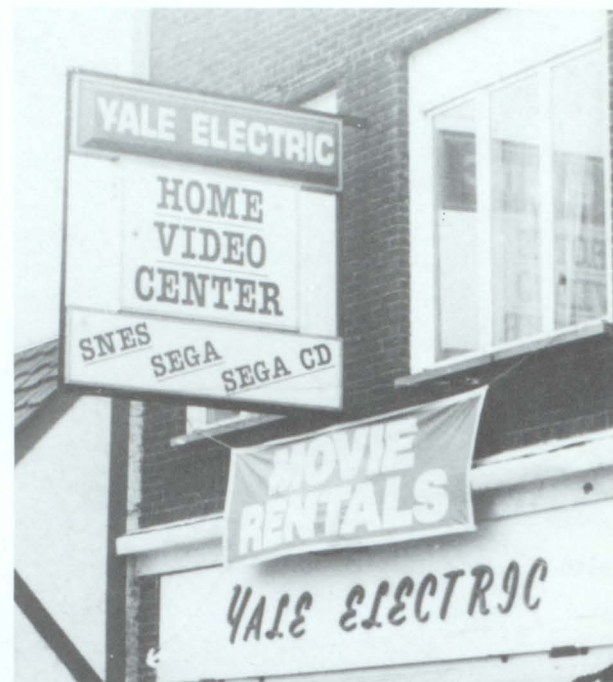

So, even though the weather here is incredibly cold, I can be sure I had a great and unique experience. I am sure I will see some of you guys again sometime. Till then power to the Allright Guys!
